U. S. DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE ORGANIZING WOMEN OF COUNTRY FOR SMASHING FIGHT AGAINST H. C. L.

Through Churches, Lodges, Clubs and Schools Uncle Sam Will Enlist His Great New Army for Victory Over Profiteers

WASHINGTON, D. C.—So finally it's up to the women! The high cost of living problem! A high cost of living department has been created in the U. S. department of justice. A woman, Miss Edith Strauss of New York has been put in charge of it. Concerted effort on the part of the women of the country is to be attempted through the women's clubs, societies, lodges and the churches and schools. Every woman in every city, town, village and rural crossroads, can be reached in this way, says Miss Strauss.

Women the Spenders
"Ninety per cent of the money spent for food and clothing is spent by women. High prices will come down if we refuse to pay them. If we do not demand luxuries, merchants will turn their attention to the manufacture and sale of necessities," said Miss Strauss. Without the emotional stimulus of war which urged women to save under the food administration of Herbert Hoover, Miss Strauss already is making good in her endeavor to enlist and organize women to fight the high cost of living with much the same methods as were instigated by Hoover.

Clubs, Churches and Schools
The scheme of things is clear, as Miss Strauss outlines her plans. There is to be a local chairman in every city and town. Each local chairman shall appoint a committee to consist of representatives of all local women's organizations to inform every woman in their city or town, of the fair prices of necessities, and to urge them to refuse to pay exorbitant prices. These committees will co-operate, in turn, with women's clubs, schools, churches. Lectures will be given on the causes of H. C. L. and the remedies. Production, conservation and more responsibility to the government will be taught.

Local Complaint Departments
Further divisions of the campaign embrace school and church. In the schools the parents will be taught through their children. An effort will be made to organize church women to combat the high cost through concerted effort, simple living, careful buying. Conservation Sunday services will be asked, with sermons on the perils of the present orgy of extravagance.

Local complaint departments will be instituted to receive and investigate complaint cards, and turn over to the local fair price commissioner or the United States district attorney legitimate complaints with any additional data collected through investigation.

Sister Mary's KITCHEN

Old newspapers make excellent stove cleaners. After the fire is low in a coal range take a double sheet of paper, crumple it up and rub the top of the stove briskly and thoroughly. It really is surprising how clean this treatment will make the stove. The nickle as well as the iron is brightened up.

A gas stove responds to newspaper cleaning in the same way. While there isn't as much surface to a gas stove as to an iron range, it seems to me that a gas stove gets stickier, or, rather, more gummy. A big rumpled piece of paper takes away this gummy coating as if by magic. A daily rubbing will keep a stove in good shape and make the weekly oiling and cleaning a mere pastime.

Menu for Tomorrow
Breakfast—Stewed prunes, creamed dried beef on toast, coffee.
Luncheon—Salmon croquettes, creamed peas, pickled peaches, raisin brown bread and butter, tea.
Dinner—Broiled steak, French fried potatoes, tomato jelly salad with mayonaisse dressing, old-fashioned loaf cake, floating island, coffee.

My Own Recipes
Once in a great while I shut my eyes and ignore the voice of conscience and buy a porterhouse steak. And then I discover that it hasn't cost so much more than a boiling piece of beef and has been such a treat. Although there is no more nourishment in the "cut" of the one piece of meat than the other, there is more in a broiled piece of meat than a boiled one.

Salmon Croquettes
1 1/2 cups cold flaked salmon.
2 tablespoons butter.
1 tablespoon flour.
1/2 teaspoon salt.
1/4 teaspoon pepper.
1 cup milk.
2 teaspoons lemon juice.
Dried bread crumbs.
1 egg.
Add lemon juice to salmon. Melt butter, stir in flour and add milk. Add salt and pepper and cook 5 minutes, stirring constantly. Add salmon to sauce and spread on a plate.

ATTACK GOVERNOR'S POLICY FOR COMING LEGISLATIVE SESSION

The first gun of a definite and out-in-the-open nature, has been fired against the governor's single-issue policy for the coming special session of the legislature, by the Buckeye Irrigation company, whose members met in annual session on Monday and voted unanimously for a resolution calling upon the governor to engage in the manufacture of cement.

Governor Thomas E. Campbell, just prior to his recent departure, announced his determination to limit the call to a vote on the ratification of the Susan B. Anthony amendment, and it is understood in official circles that the governor has proposed all along to adhere to his determination. Democratic interest, opposing his administration, have demanded that the legislature be thrown wide open for everything on a "roof's the limit" basis, thereby making a 60-day session at a cost of probably $75,000 a certainty instead of a one-day session at purely nominal expense to the state.

So determined were the democrats to have their way that they conspired to have Acting Governor Simms call a special session in the governor's absence, and it is believed that the call was just about to come when The Arizona Republican "busted the bag," "spilled the beans," "upset the apple," and otherwise raised thunder on the morning of Saturday, January 9, when it told about what was going on. Acting Governor Simms' now famous denial was printed in an afternoon paper.

No mention of politics was made at the Buckeye Irrigation company's annual meeting, it is claimed, but several of the state's leading democrats were present. Chairman C. M. Zander, state tax commissioner, was among those present and he voiced his emphatic approval of the resolution asking the governor to include another feature in his call for the special session.

"I believe," the chairman said yesterday, "that millions of dollars worth of improvements would be added to the state if the state were to erect a cement mill. Even if the mill never turned a wheel, the result would be about the same. Just the presence of the mill and the authority to use it for manufacturing cement is all that is necessary. At present the cost of cement, imported from places outside the state, is prohibitive."

The irrigation company also passed a resolution calling upon the governor to include in the special session a call for legislation amending the drainage laws in a manner to meet the needs of the Buckeye district.

DASHING NEW FROCK HAS YOUTHFUL LINES

By Betty Brown
NEW YORK.—An afternoon frock is always a welcome addition to the wardrobe of young girl or matron. The sketch today shows a youthful style for afternoon wear developed in brown chiffon voile and taffeta. The skirt has a foundation of brown taffeta, over which falls a double tulle, a brown chiffon voile with each edge a taffeta-like ruff of taffeta. The skirt is of taupe moire ribbon with an edge of French blue, and taupe and blue streamers hang beneath the chiffon voile the length of the skirt in front.

been employed in repair work at the Archer residence Wednesday during the hours when the robbery is believed to have taken place. Beyond their presence at the Archer home at that time there was nothing to connect them with the disappearance of the jewelry. One of the men was arrested Wednesday evening and taken to the sheriff's office, the other giving himself into the custody of Sheriff Montgomery the next morning. In the meantime, officers had searched the rooms occupied by the two men. After closely questioning them they were released.

Presence of servants in the Archer residence discounts to a large extent, it is claimed, the theory that someone entered the house from the outside to commit the robbery. Also there was a Great Dane dog at the front door and a collie at the rear door. All these facts make the officers less inclined to believe that it was an "outside job." Mrs. Archer, however, has absolved all of her four servants from blame.

SAYS HE'LL BE NEXT ARIZONA GOVERNOR

The population of Phoenix is not going to quit growing at the end of this year. It is promised an increase immediately after January 1 of 1921. This information is on the authority of Hon. Charles M. Roberts, who yesterday announced that he would occupy the gubernatorial chair at that time. Mr. Roberts is loath to leave Coconino where he has lived so long and where he has extensive interests. But Mr. Roberts perceives that man, unless very selfish, cannot live for himself alone, but must scatter benefactions along his pathway in the way of public service.

A Drop in the Bucket

Every householder's expenses are divided into a number of items; food, rent, clothing, fuel and light, house-furnishings, insurance, education and amusements, sickness—and the telephone.

Of all these items of expense, the telephone bill is one of the least, being a very small per cent of the total cost.

For a trifling sum at most you have constantly at your command millions of dollars worth of property and the service of skilled workers.

In business the cost of the telephone is frequently an even smaller proportion of the overhead expense, than in the household.

It only needs an emergency to bring it home to any subscriber that the telephone is worth many times its cost.

In the face of today's high costs the telephone is a bargain; and a daily economy for every subscriber.
